| Communication |
| *Please be aware that anything written in this section may be copied directly to Intersect's Newsletter or Gitbook The CoinCeylon x Intersect Sri Lanka Hub continued its strong focus on transparent, multilingual, and impactful community communication throughout May. All milestone activities were actively promoted and documented across our official X (Twitter) profile, YouTube, and Intersect Discord, ensuring maximum visibility and engagement. We began the month by documenting the final workshop of the Kelaniya series, which concluded our 4-part, hands-on training program. This was communicated through a highlight video, certificate ceremony recap, and thank-you posts to faculty collaborators ensuring public acknowledgment and transparency. As we launched the University of Ruhuna workshop series, communications were tailored to highlight regional expansion. We shared photos and recaps for each workshop, building excitement among university audiences and Cardano learners. This content included student testimonials, behind-the-scenes moments, and educational insights. The May Town Hall was promoted through countdown tweets, multilingual reminders, and a speaker reveal thread featuring Daniel Friedman (zenGate Global) and Sebastien Guillemot (dcSpark / Paima). After the event, we published the full video and a recap of key topics covered, emphasizing real-world adoption stories and governance updates. We also posted coverage of our ecosystem-facing engagements, including Kavinda Kariyapperuma (Hub Manager & Intersect Board Director) meeting the President of Sri Lanka to discuss the hub activities and Cardano's impact. This major visibility moment was shared on both personal and hub profiles to showcase the alignment of blockchain innovation with national dialogue. As all milestone deliverables for May were successfully completed, Together, these efforts ensured a fully transparent and inclusive communication strategy—encouraging learning, governance involvement, and real-world relevance for the Sri Lankan Cardano community. |
